

Next generation media monitoring

With Imooty you have direct access to high value information sources such as newspapers, magazines, trade journals, wiki and knowledge market pages, in addition to keeping you in touch with the opinion makers of our time through social media monitoring of podcast-, video-, photo-portals, blogs, microblogs, review and forum discussions.

By identifying keywords relative to brands and industry terminology, we create an ontology allowing you to follow online mention on your company name, gather competitive intelligence and keep up to date on the latest industry trends.

Imooty bundles and categorizes data according to relevant information sources and user-defined topics. Our user friendly interface is customized as a company information portal, or as a professional online PR & Marketing tool.

Next Generation

Imooty.eu applies a semantic text recognition technology that improves search results and information processing:

- Named entity recognition: we know if its SHARP Electronics Company, or "sharp" as in Italian design.
- Issue Management: Linguistic software interprets your data and automatically categorizes it.
- Clustering of similar or duplicate content into ONE headline avoids repeat processing of information.
- Automated Sentiment Analysis: we identify the Good, the Bad and the Ugly with 83% accuracy.
